PERSONAL STATEMENT

“ Hi! My name is Matt Prindle and I am a freelance designer. That means as long as I have my laptop I can code beautiful websites and design fresh graphics for you.

I understand the importance of putting people first. Which means I do my best in making myself personally available to you 24/7. So down the road if you need a quick change to your site at 11:30 at night, it will be taken care of. If you need me to communicate with your print designer in the very early morning, it will be taken care of.

I love the development of abstract, simple, creative and well designed ideas and web-projects... challenge me! I pride myself in having the geeky skills to not only produce finely crafted pixels for the web, but also to understand the print side of design.

It will be taken care of!

Making every new project my next best work. ”
